After August 31st, 2019 the buyer is responsible and liable for full amount of this contract which includes slaughter and processing fees and total price per hog hang weight. If Regeneration Farm is not able to supply the desired quantity of pork from its own production, Regeneration Farm will notify Buyer as soon as the information is known. Buyer and Seller may agree that Seller should source the shortfall from other local farms we know to be of high quality or that Seller will provide a reduced quantity.

Seller will notify Buyer one month ahead of planned slaughter. Slaughter will occur after October 25th, 2019. Two weeks ahead of anticipated slaughter is the deadline to alter order processing (butchering) instructions. Regeneration Farm will notify the Buyer immediately when a delivery date or required pick up time is known. Once slaughtered, pork will be refrigerated or on ice at all times until delivery or pick up. Upon receipt of pork Buyer assumes full responsibility, care and preservation of product.

If Buyer has quality concerns upon receiving the pork, Buyer must immediately notify Regeneration Farm of any issues and provide photographic documentation. In the event of any dispute, quality of pork must be maintained by buyer at all times during dispute resolution. Pork must be handled in accordance with USDA food safety guidelines for fresh pork (attached to this document) and be kept in refrigeration below 40 degrees fahrenheit for no more than five days after which it is kept in a freezer below zero degrees fahrenheit until dispute has been resolved. Buyer can also store pork in freezer below zero degrees fahrenheit immediately after receiving pork. If pork does not meet high standards of quality the Seller guarantees the Buyer refund or replacement of affected product. In the event of any discrepancies, disputes or unforeseen circumstances, Buyer and Seller agree to work together in due diligence towards a mutually acceptable resolution. If a resolution is not forthcoming Seller and Buyer will propose and agree to a mutually accepted third party to aid in dispute resolution prior to filing of any lawsuit.
